

Starting in Summer 2023, students will see a pop up message after logging into WebCampus/Canvas if they have any open evaluations. Students can either click on the link in the pop up to complete their course evaluation or “Remind me later” to return to their dashboard.

After evaluations have been open for 2 weeks during the regular semester (content blocking is not used during summer), students will see the below message when they click on one of their courses with an unsubmitted course evaluation:

Clicking on the evaluation link will open a new window and students will be able to complete their evaluation:

Evaluation for NURS 999 1005 Canvas Test D

Hello!

At the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, we take student feedback very seriously. Your feedback will help your instructors, departments, and the university better understand and address the concerns of students such as yourself. Your responses are completely confidential and do not directly go to the faculty member(s). You may save your responses if you wish to complete the process at a later time. Please click on the "Submit" button when you are done. Please contact me at unlvevals@unlv.nevada.edu should you have any questions. Thank you for taking your time to provide constructive feedback on your course experiences.

Sincerely,

Theresa Farmer, M.A.
Course Evaluation Coordinator

Start Now

Students will see a confirmation message after they submit their course evaluation. They can close the window and will be able to access that class' course content when they return to WebCampus.

Your responses have been submitted successfully!

Thank you Theresa Farmer for taking the time to provide constructive feedback on your course IT 101-1006. Your responses are very important to us as they help us improve our teaching at UNLV.

IMPORTANT- If a student decides to opt out of doing an evaluation after content blocking is active, access to course content will not be restored immediately, like it is after submitting the evaluation. Course content for the opted out class will become available to the student after Canvas and Blue complete their daily data sync.

Selecting “Return to Dashboard” will return student to their WebCampus dashboard. Course content blocking will not impact classes with submitted evaluations or those with evaluations that have been open for less than 2 weeks. Content blocking will also expire with the course evaluation, so students will be able to access WebCampus course content as normal after the evaluation deadline.

The screenshot shows the UNLV WebCampus dashboard. At the top, a notification banner reads: "Students: Missing Fall 2023 Courses?". The text below the banner states: "Students with outstanding bills have been administratively dropped from all of their courses in MyUNLV and WebCampus-Canvas on Wednesday, Sept. 6. To be reinstated into your courses you will need to finalize your bill or contact the Cashier's Office. Once you are reinstated in MyUNLV, you will be added back to your WebCampus-Canvas course(s) within a couple of hours." Below this, it says "This is a message from University of Nevada-Las Vegas".

The dashboard header includes the UNLV logo and a sidebar with navigation links: Account, Dashboard, Courses, Calendar, Inbox, History, Commons, Faculty Resources, and Student Resources. The main content area is titled "Dashboard" and features a section for "Published Courses (3)".

Under "Published Courses (3)", there are three course cards:

- trn-tlf: A blue card with the text "trn-tlf" and a small icon.
- IT 101 1006 - 2023 Fall: A purple card with the text "IT 101 1006 - 2023 Fall" and a small icon.
- IT 101 1010 - 2023 Fall: A grey card with the text "IT 101 1010 - 2023 Fall" and a small icon.

Each card has a three-dot menu icon in the top right corner. The bottom of the dashboard shows a "Student Resources" section with a list of links.